27th March 2020

To our partners.

In these unprecedented and concerning times I would like to thank all our partners, our customers and suppliers for their continued support!

As an essential supplier of public health and animal health products, we provide products that are an essential part of ensuring food safety / human safety and biosecurity to supporting food supply chains. My colleagues in France / Belgium and the UK are working very hard to ensure our supply chain remains open and we can get you the products you require.

Our overriding concern is for the safety of our team and all future decisions will be made with them in mind. We have adopted a number of measures to protect the safety of the team and to ensure a safe working environment. Our Sales / Marketing and procurement colleagues are all working from home with a skeleton team in our office and warehouse. I trust you understand that in order to maintain social distancing in our work environment there is the potential that orders in the future may take a little longer to process and despatch and phone calls may take slightly longer to answer..

I know you will be facing the same challenges as we are and having to make difficult decisions. Please keep communicating with us and I would like to reiterate we are committed to supporting your business in whatever you may require.

If there are any concerns, please call your sales contact – numbers listed below or our office on 01384 404242.
